Before completing this section, make sure you read the Important Information section on pages 4 and 5 regarding which contributions can be split. The maximum amount able to be split is the lesser of 85% of your taxed (concessional) contributions and your contributions cap for the financial year. You can only apply to split contributions you've made to Australian Retirement Trust once for a particular financial year.

Note: If you are completing this option, please also send us a copy or photo of the front and back of your identification document (does not have to be certified).

Please also note that if the receiving spouse has a SMSF, we will need their certified identification posted to us.

Before you're able to withdraw money from your super account, by law, Australian Retirement Trust needs to verify your identity. This is why we request that you provide us with a certified copy of your driver's license or passport. In some cases, identification documents may not be sufficient for us to process your request, for example, if they have not been correctly certified. This can result in delays in processing your payment while we contact you for further information.

With your consent, Australian Retirement Trust can use Equifax IDMatrix to verify your identity electronically. This program uses data held in places such as the Electoral roll, White pages, Department of Transport, the Passport Office, and Equifax credit information files to verify your details.

As part of the electronic verification process, we will submit your document details (for example, your driver's licence number) to third party credit reporting agencies (CRAs) and/or the Australian Government's Document Verification Service (DVS) for the purpose of confirming your identity. The DVS checks whether the information you provide matches the original records held by the relevant authorities. A CRA may check your information against the DVS and/or against records in your credit information file.

We will only use the information you provide to verify your identity and not for any other purpose. A CRA does not give us access to your credit related information, such as credit card and loan applications.

More information about the DVS is available on the Australian Government's IDMatch website at www.idmatch.gov.au. More information on how we electronically verify your identity and your rights is available in our Proof of Identity Requirements fact sheet available at art.com.au/poi.

☐

By checking this box, I confirm I am authorised to provide the personal details presented. I confirm I have read and understood the process for verifying my identity and my rights in the Proof of Identity fact sheet and consent to my information being verified electronically via submission to the DVS and/or a CRA.

☐

If you do not consent to us verifying your identity using the DVS or via a CRA, we may verify your identity in other ways but this may take longer. Refer to our Proof of Identity Requirements fact sheet at art.com.au/poi for instructions on how to prove your identity using your identity documents.

Important information

What if I am a QSuper and Super Savings member?

Under superannuation law, you can only make a single request per financial year to split eligible contributions made to Australian Retirement Trust. If you have both a Super Savings and QSuper account, when completing this form please write a note to specify if you wish to split contributions solely from your Super Savings account, or both your accounts. If you split contributions from both your accounts, you will receive two separate confirmations once your request has been processed.

Concessional contributions cap

There are limits on the amount of contributions you make to super each year, known as contributions caps.

For the 2025-26 financial year, the concessional contributions cap is $30,000. If your total super balance at the end of the previous financial year was less than $500,000, your cap may be increased by any unused concessional contributions from the previous five-years.

Contributions splitting does not reduce the amount counted towards your concessional contributions cap. We will report to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) all contributions you made, including any contributions that were later transferred to your spouse by contributions splitting.

You can contact the ATO on 13 10 20 or go to ato.gov.au for information about tax and super and what happens if you exceed your contribution caps.

What amounts cannot be split?

Amounts that cannot be contribution split include:

- Non-concessional contributions such as voluntary (after-tax) contributions, Government co-contributions and spouse contributions.
- Any investment earnings on the new contributions before they're split.
- Any existing superannuation benefits and contributions accumulated before 1 July of the previous financial year.
- Any amounts that are a roll-over superannuation benefit.
- Any superannuation lump sum amounts paid from a foreign superannuation fund.
- Directed termination payments (i.e. payments from an employer to an employee when employment finishes that have been rolled-over to a superannuation fund).
- Any defined benefit contributions and any other allocations from reserves that aren't assessable.
- Contributions cannot be split if your spouse is over age 65 or is aged between age 60 and 65 and has already retired.
- Contributions you make with a CGT cap election for a small business or with personal injury election, and
- Contributions made for a child under age of 18 years.

Rules of contribution splitting

- The receiving spouse must be:
 - a) the person who is married to the applicant, or
 - b) living with them on a genuine domestic basis in a relationship as a couple (whether of the same or different sex), or
 - c) in a relationship with the applicant that is registered under a law of an Australian State or Territory (whether of the same or different sex).
- The receiving spouse must be under 65 and, if they have reached age 60, must not have permanently retired.
- The contributing spouse can only split contributions once annually following the financial year in which the contributions were made.

NOTE: requests cannot be backdated to any years prior to the previous financial year. Contributions may only be split in the current financial year if the contributing spouse's entire account balance is to be rolled-over, transferred or cashed.

- The contributing spouse must maintain a minimum account balance of $6,000 after the split.
- The minimum amount that the contributing spouse may split is $5,000.
- Amounts to be split will be paid pro-rata between the contributing spouse's existing investment strategy. The contributing spouse may not elect the investment options from which the amount is withdrawn.
- Members who intend to claim a tax deduction on personal contributions must provide their notice of intention to claim a tax deduction to Australian Retirement Trust before the contributing spouse applies for a contribution split. The contribution split can only be made after we provide acknowledgement of a notice of intent to claim a tax deduction. For a copy of the Notice of Intent to Claim a Tax Deduction form visit the ATO website at ato.gov.au.
- If the contributing spouse has already rolled money out of Australian Retirement Trust they may not split contributions received in that financial year.

- Defined benefit members can only split contributions from the accumulation portion of their benefit.
- The split amount cannot be transferred into a spouse's pension.
- The receiving spouse must have provided their tax file number (TFN) to their super fund.

Transferring to a self-managed super fund (SMSF)?*

Super funds (including SMSFs) must use SuperStream to roll over your super benefits. This means your SMSF will need:

- an electronic service address
- an Australian business number (ABN)

Please note - We encourage you to ensure the SMSF details held with the ATO are correct before initiating the roll out request.

Under superannuation legislation, we can only transfer balances to a SMSF if you (or your company) are a member, trustee or director of a corporate trustee of the SMSF. For identification purposes, you'll also need to provide proof of identity documents detailed on the following page and a copy of a bank statement for the SMSF. The bank statement must have been issued within 12 months and include the following:

- The SMSF name as account holder
- BSB and account number
- The institution name and logo

We cannot process your request until this information is provided.

We'll check with the ATO that the SMSF is complying. If we're unable to, we'll let you know.

We'll verify with the ATO that:

A. The SMSF is complying. Please provide the SMSF's ABN (ACN, TFN or Fund name only won't verify complying status).

AND:

B. You are a member, trustee or director of a corporate trustee of the SMSF.

If you're a director of the corporate trustee your details are registered with ASIC not with the ATO. You'll need to contact the ATO and update your fund details so we can confirm you're a trustee of your SMSF.

For more information on how to update your status you can call the ATO on 13 10 20 between 8am and 6pm, Monday to Friday or visit ato.gov.au.

* Please note that we reserve the right to request additional information before processing any transfers to SMSFs. We may also contact you by telephone to confirm the details of this transfer request. Our information requirements for these payments reflect the unique regulations and risks pertaining to SMSFs, as well as the Trustee of Australian Retirement Trust obligation to ensure that transfers to these funds are compliant.

Important information

Providing your tax file number (TFN)

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, your superannuation fund is authorised to collect your TFN, which will only be used for lawful purposes. These purposes may change in the future as a result of legislative change. The trustee of your superannuation fund may disclose your TFN to another superannuation provider, when your benefits are being transferred, unless you request the trustee of your superannuation fund in writing that your TFN not be disclosed to any other superannuation provider.

It is not an offence not to quote your TFN. However giving your TFN to your superannuation fund will have the following advantages (which may not otherwise apply):

- your superannuation fund will be able to accept all types of contributions to your account/s,
- the tax on contributions to your superannuation account/s will not increase,
- other than the tax that may ordinarily apply, no additional tax will be deducted when you start drawing down your superannuation benefits, and
- it will make it much easier to trace different superannuation accounts in your name so that you receive all your superannuation benefits when you retire.

Will I need to provide further documents?

If we're unable to match your details, or you are transferring to a self-managed super fund, you'll be asked to provide a certified proof of identity document to verify your identity.

What is an acceptable identification document?

To verify your identity please attach a certified copy of:

- Your current driver's licence, current passport or current national identity card that contains your photo, name and EITHER residential address OR date of birth (please copy and certify both front and back sections if relevant), OR
- Your birth certificate, Australian birth extract, Citizenship certificate, or current Department of Human Services pension or health care card AND a current rates, electricity or gas notice (no more than 3 months old) or assessment from the ATO (no more than 12 months old) or a financial benefits notice from the Commonwealth, a state or a territory (no more than 12 months old) showing your name and current residential address.

Note: You can also give your consent to Australian Retirement Trust to use Equifax to verify your identity electronically when your identification documents may not be sufficient for us to process your request.

What do we mean by certified?

We understand you'll want to provide us with copies of your ID documents, rather than the originals. That's fine, but you must have them 'certified' and no more than 12 months old. This means the certifier must:

1. Sight the original and the copy to make sure both documents are identical, and
2. Write or stamp 'certified true copy of original document' on each page, and
3. Sign and print their name, qualification (e.g. Justice of the Peace, Australia Post employee), and the date on each page of the document.

How your proof of identity document should look. (See example below.)

- a) Copy of the document that identifies you
- b) 'Certified true copy' written or stamped and signature of authorised person
- c) Authorised person's stamp and registration number (if applicable)
- d) Name, qualification and phone number of authorised person
- e) Date of authorisation

Who can certify?

- Justice of the Peace (including Commissioner for Declarations),
- Police Officer,
- One of the following with 2 or more years of continuous service:
 - a) Australia Post permanent employee
 - b) Financial Institution Officer e.g. bank employee
 - c) Australian Financial Services Licensee, authorised representative or officer.

For a full list of who can certify, including overseas certifiers, please refer to the Proof of Identity Requirements fact sheet by visiting art.com.au/id

Important notes on identification:

- We reserve the right to request additional information to verify your identity before paying your claim.
- We can't accept documents which have expired. If an expired document is received, we'll not be able to process your claim until suitable identification has been provided.
- If you're providing a document that is not in English, you'll also need to provide an English translation prepared by an accredited translator.
- If signing on behalf of the member, certified copies of Guardianship papers or proof of Power of Attorney are required.

Preservation details

If you're 60 or older, you're considered to be retired from the workforce if you've ceased an arrangement of employment.

What contributions can be split?

Splitting only applies to contributions paid into superannuation during the current or previous financial year. You can only apply to split contributions you've made to Australian Retirement Trust once for a particular financial year.

What the ATO has to say:

You can apply to split your contributions when you are any age, but your spouse must be either:

- less than age 60, or
- aged between 60 and 65 years, and not retired.

For further details refer to the Proof of identity requirements at art.com.au/id
